EDITORIAL FLINGS

He labored hard from sun to sun
And yet his job was far from done;
He tried to make a tasty brew
That kicked like stuff used to do.

Dear love, my thoughts are all for you
They bind me like a golden chain;
It matters not how much I chew,
Your biscuits give me inward pain.

A woman will fall smilingly for every new invention of the man-milliners, and then shoot her husband if he doesn't think her new gown is perfectly stunning.

To get one of those fatigue buns, just sit through a movie film of 1910 vintage or talk for ten minutes to a typical flapper. Either will produce the desired result.

The best of all habits is to break our habits. Nothing restores our self-respect so much as the discovery that we can do without pleasures to which we have become habituated.

The former Kaiser delivered orders about his wedding just like he used to do in the old days. But now he's married he'll soon be subdued and be taking orders from his new boss.

We are indebted to the Christian Science Monitor for a note on the dramatic prospects of the day, which we have found most excellent reading. We have known, as all players know, that among the comedians who feel a Shakespearean urge was David Warfield, that man of many parts, but only one character. But we did not know, however, that Arliss was studying Iago, Benedict and Shylock. Remembering Irving, as most gratefully we do, we recall that he was at once an incomparable Benedict and a Hamlet of rare and winning intellectuality. Welcome, Mr. Arliss.

I always wish that Jones would walk
Along in his own way;
He always has a line of talk,
But has not much to say.

A critic says that the preachers do not preach sermons that are on a high intellectual plane. Sure not; they are obliged to preach so that their congregation will understand them.

Whenever we hear a fellow say that he enjoys an ice cold shower bath the first thing in the morning, we know right away that he is not following in the footsteps of the late well-known and highly-respected George Washington.

He told the shy maid
Of his love,
The color left her cheeks
But on the shoulder
Of his coat,
It showed for several weeks.

We are thoroughly in accord with the movement on the Part of the government to collect finger prints. The government can go through our fiction books and, from the books we have loaned out in the past year, get enough finger prints to last it several years.

In a Madisonville hotel the other day there was a reunion of world war heroes. The head clerk, who had been a first lieutenant, called the porter, who was his captain, and the waiter, who was a lieutenant-colonel, and had them throw out their former general, who was a lobby loafer.

"Love is the torch we carry into the Mammoth Cave of life." is one of the sayings in "Maxims of a Modern Maid." Mebbe so, mebbe so! And it takes the modern couple just about fifteen minutes to reach the Star Chamber of that journey, where the torches are extinguished.

Just after the football game between Paris and Cynthiana some days ago a fair young Paris maiden said to her escort: "Ray, your football coach, Mr. Ward, ought to make a good fisherman." When asked for a reason she replied: "Well, he's always developing a strong line." And Ray admitted that she was right.

Husbands are not always to be blamed for deserting their wives, according to delegates attending an Illinois conference on public welfare. One of the speakers cited interference of the mother-in-law, absence of culinary knowledge as justifiable causes for wife desertion. Well, that surely ought to be sufficient and ample reason for the old man slipping away from "the home nest."

RETAIL ADVERTISING

The day has passed for the general and pointless appeal in retail advertisements. The Advertising World, published monthly at Columbus, Ohio, tells retail merchants how to make their advertising produce real sales results. A sample copy of this magazine will be sent on request.

Son, emulate the auto! In spite of the fact that it is tired, it gets there just the same!

The bin is never full until the field is empty.

D'YE MIND THE TIME

When These Things Happened In Paris, As Told in THE NEWS' Files?

DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

There's no denying that to most of us there is a certain satisfaction in reviewing the events of long ago, as they are presented to us, either casually or by force of some reminiscent strain of the moment. And to those who lived here in the long ago the recalling of events in the old days of Paris affords a peculiar satisfaction all its own. They, perhaps, more than we who have grown used to the old place, will appreciate these items, taken at random from a copy of THE BOURBON NEWS, of Wednesday, April 13, 1881:

Dan Dailey, the wounded brakeman, at Maysville, is getting well.

A Paris, Ky., lady is trying to introduce the style of ladies tipping hats to gentlemen on the streets.

Wm. Kiser, aged 73, died at Kiser's Station last week.

Polk Forsyth has inaugurated the fishing mania, at his favorite hole, near Kiser's Station.

Dick Dorsey, our former townsman, has been appointed to a mail agency on the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Polk Forsyth has donated to the college museum of the K. W. C., the large grey eagle killed by Sam Bagg at Hutchison, a few days ago.

A little girl at Falmouth found $300 in a barrel while taking some potatoes out. It is supposed that some western farmer who packed potatoes lost it.

Al Botts and Bill Berry, both colored, had a difficulty at North Middletown, in which Botts fractured Berry's skull with a rock, from the effects of which he will die.

Miss Josie Humble has returned from Denver City, Col., to Paris, to make her future home, and her niece, Miss Katie Stephens, will make her home with her married sister, at Leadville, where she, too, will probably get married soon.

Dan Rice's circus met with a cool reception in Southern Kentucky towns last week, whilst the snow was on the ground, and the icy blasts were plentiful.

"The camels are coming," or, at least, a camel was born in the winter quarters of Van Amburgh & Co.'s circus and menagerie in Connersville, Ind., March 11.

Julia A. Hunt was greeted with a crowded house here last week, and was heartily appreciated by those fond of heavy tragedies. She left for Indianapolis, St. Louis and other western cities.

George Shawhan, who rented the Moreland farm, near Talbott's Station, will move to it this week, and will commence farming when the winter ends.

Jeff Kiser, of Kiser's Station, possesses twenty-five dogs, which if taxed according to the new law proposed by THE NEWS, would add $50 per annum to the county treasury.

Wm. M. Taylor is about the happiest man in the Paris precinct—in consequence of the numerical strength of the Democratic majority being increased by the addition of a voter, after twenty-one years shall have been added to young Mr. Taylors' age.

Henry Valentine Morris, of the Mason County Journal, made another one of his semi-occasional visits to our town, Saturday and Sunday, to visit his affianced, Henry, by the way, has arrived at very satisfactory conclusions regarding the merits of Dr. Work-burger's celebrated worm medicines after a personal test.

The Blue Grass Clipper heralds the announcement that Jimmie Wiggins, city collector and a newspaper reporter, of Covington, will soon wed Miss Jennie Quinn, of Scott county. Outcroppings of a press convention, of course.

Miss Lizzie Weathers, a charming young lady from Clintonville, while visiting Miss Mac Layson, near here, eloped to Cincinnati and married her cousin, who is also named Weathers. Miss Weathers left two of her ardent local admirers sitting in the parlor, and another held an engagement for Sunday evening last.

A certain Paris "small boy" who attended the opera the other night, and became imbued with punning propensities, went home and told his mother, who had been trying to induce him to take a dose of castor oil, that might castor oil in the street, for he did not intend to take it.

It is a rule of the Bourbon county Agricultural Society that all sheep exhibited at their annual show must be closely shorn on or before April 18th of each year. The weather being so severe this season, the competition will probably be cut down very fine.

One day last week, while the two charming young ladies, Misses Burton and Cooper, dropped into Joe Miller's grocery, Jimmie Butler, a spry young clerk, became so agitated in mind, that he wrapped up a pound of epsom salts for Mr. Fizer instead of sulphur, which was called for.

The vote on Saturday to subscribe $100,000 to the Paris, Frankfort and Georgetown Railroad, resulted in a majority of 332 in favor of the proposition, with the vote of Paris inclusive. As a matter of course, the vote of Paris will be counted just the same as that of Millersburg, Ruddles Mills, Flat Rock or any of the balance of the towns in the county.

Charles A. Croxton, of this county, has sued four men, Messrs. Blaisdell, Degman, Galvin and Norris, whose dogs killed his sheep to the amount of $800, for that amount of damages. Although the law positively makes a man responsible for the act of his dogs, in 999 cases out of 1,000, a dog's guilt cannot be legally substantiated in a court for the raiders generally get in their work at the dead hour of night, when all witnesses are asleep.

PRESS ASSOCIATION TO MEET

JANUARY 11-12

The executive committee of the Kentucky Press Association met in Louisville recently and arranged a tentative program for the mid-winter meeting of the association, which will be held at the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, Friday and Saturday, January 11 and 12. The program is an interesting one, according to Vice-President L. S. Fitzhugh, of Wilmore, embracing addresses on good roads, newspapers, newspaper management and some political phases. Within the next few days Secretary J. C. Alcock, of Danville, will prepare the detailed program for publication.

Those attending the meeting of the committee were: President G. B. Senff, of Mt. Sterling; Vice President L. S. Fitzhugh, of Wilmore; Secretary J. Curtis Alcock, of Danville; R. L. Elkin, of Lancaster; Keene Johnson, of Lawrenceburg; and Malcolm Bayley, of Louisville. Shelton M. Saufley, of Richmond, chairman of the committee, was unable because of pressure of business to be present.

FAMOUS VIOLINIST AT LEXINGTON, NOVEMBER 21

Albert Spalding, "America's Greatest Violinist," and one of the foremost violin virtuosos of the world, will give the second concert of the "Artist Series" in Woodland Auditorium, Lexington, Tuesday, November 21st, at 8:15 p. m. He will be assisted by Andre Bonist at the piano.

During the past season, Mr. Spalding has been concertizing in Europe, where he has given over one hundred concerts in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Italy, Spain and Egypt. His success everywhere has been continuous, and phenomenal.

Mr. Spalding's concert tour this season will take him not only to all the large musical centers in United States, but he will make eighteen appearances as soloist with the leading symphony orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic, the Cincinnati Symphony, the Cleveland Symphony, the Los Angeles Philharmonic and others.

Mr. Spalding's concert will be one of the most brilliant musical events of the season and it is believed that a large audience will welcome this great violinist on his appearance in Central Kentucky. Tickets are on sale now at the Lexington College of Music and the prices are $2.75, $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10, war tax included.
